ABSTRACT

The article discussed the status and prospects of tourism industry in Bangladesh. It has found that tourism industry in Bangladesh is growing, but is not developed. Bangladesh has more prospect in heritage tourism, adventure tourism, agri-tourism, sports tourism, rural tourism, and religious tourism. Bangladesh offers many tourist attractions, including rolling tea gardens, hill forests and wildlife, picturesque landscape, longest natural beach in the world, historical mosques and monuments, archaeological sites, and colourful tribal life very enchanting. With the country's unmatched biodiversity, diverse landscapes, and rich cultural heritage, there's immense potential to make tourism a cornerstone of sustainable development. Cox's Bazar in the longest unbroken sea beach in the world and the tourist capital of Bangladesh. The country has three UNESCO world heritage sites. It plays a significant role directly and indirectly in the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) growth rate of Bangladesh by creating new employment opportunities for both male and female, alleviating poverty, enhancing local community participation, earning foreign currency via foreign tourists. Tourism is a growing sector and contributing nearly 2.3 % of total GDP in 2023. There are many challenges before the tourism industry, such as inadequate funding, low engagement of local communities, insufficient safety and security, inappropriate marketing strategies, ineffective promotional efforts, obstacle to communication, and limited budget for promoting tourism overseas. Therefore, government should implement policies for mitigating such challenges, and develop the tourism industry in a new horizon.

LITERATURE REVIEW

Afroz and Hasanuzzaman (2012) discussed the challenges and prospects of Bandarban tourism. Tourism is a growing industry in Bangladesh. Tourism is one of the fastest growing industries worldwide. Bandarban is one of the region of Bangladesh blessed with incomparable beauty. Das and Chakraborty (2012) determined the contribution of tourism sector to the overall gross domestic product of Bangladesh and its future prospects. Tourism is one of the most promising sectors in the country with its immense natural beauty. Parveen (2013) studied the current growth and development of tourism industry and also the limitations and challenges of the industry. The study mainly highlights the current position of the tourism industry, its contribution to economic development and the share of tourism in Bangladesh compared to SAARC nations. Musa (2013) said that government and non-governmental organizations that play a significant role in the development of the tourism industry of Bangladesh. The Bangladesh government should take necessary steps to encourage the private sector to play a positive role in the development and diversification of tourism facilities to promote domestic and international tourism. Chowdhury (2013) found that tourism is considered as the largest and fastest growing industry in the modern business world. It can play a significant role in the economic development of the country. However, this industry in Bangladesh is not achieving its goals due to inappropriate marketing practices. Mamun and Andaleeb (2013) focused on the healthcare professionals in Bangladesh. By doing so, they will be able to improve the local healthcare industry and retain patients in Bangladesh. Hassan and Burns (2014) shown the need for creating an effective tourism policy. Tourism, being an important part of any country's economy. As a potential destination for tourism and internationally, Bangladesh also needs a proper and effective policy.

Hasan and Hossain (2014) believed that tourism can be beneficial to the economy. However, due to poor policies and poor management of small and medium scale enterprises, the business cannot meet the expectations. There are many entrepreneurs in the business sector who are facing small financial problems. Hasan and Jobaid (2014) found that the heritage tourism industry plays a vital role in attracting tourists to heritage sites. Bangladesh is rich in historical and archaeological sites. The country has all the potential to become an important part of the world heritage. Majumder (2015) highlighted the direct impact of tourism in promoting economic growth and identified the existing gaps that hinder the development of the business. Roy and Roy (2015) focused on tourism in Bangladesh and the contribution of Bangladesh's tourism industry. A large number of tourists from home and abroad visit the country and its tourists to enjoy the beauty of nature. If the economy cannot sustain adequate growth, its contribution to the country's economy will lag behind in the future. Mondal (2017) stated that the tourism sector is facing many problems and its development is not sustainable. Government has taken multiple policies for the development of the industry. Mowla (2019) reported that the National Tourism Policy 2010 has nine policies or principles, all of which are based on the concept of tourism. Mowla (2019) stated that Institutions specializing in tourism education, IT education and business activities such as tourism agencies, tourism operators, hotels, technology service providers need to cooperate and constantly communicate to develop the knowledge base of the business for the beauty industry and complete navigation.

Biswas and Rashid (2019) investigated the problems faced by tourists while traveling in Bangladesh. International tourists are less satisfied with the accommodation, transportation, security and other services of Bangladesh. Hossain & Islam (2019) concluded that the government should consider tourism as one of the most important aspects of the development agenda. Strengthen the tourism industry and business development and create a group of experts and tourism service professionals. Huda et al. (2020) concluded that Bangladesh develops and promotes its food supply mostly through food diversity, value addition, food integration and basic economic measures. Food tourism is still prevalent in most hotels and restaurants in Bangladesh. Rahman and Tahsin (2020) future of tourism in Bangladesh, emphasized the link between business and finance for tourism development. The Bangladesh government is planning to create a more efficient and profitable business model for export business, which can play a significant role in the development, especially in terms of GDP, employment generation and foreign exchange earnings.

Polash and Habeb (2020) accepted that Bangladesh is the finest visitor destination with its slopes, valleys, timberlands, shorelines, lakes and streams. In spite of the fact that ecotourism is still a modern sort of tourism in Bangladesh, ecotourism is on the rise and efforts are being made to advance it within the nation. Tasnim and Akter (2020) have said some practical proposals for utilizing social media as a publicizing instrument within the future. It too proposed challenges and potential of utilizing social media as a special instrument to create the tourism potential of Bangladesh. According to Akhtar et al. (2021), despite facing great challenges, Bangladesh's economic development has created employment, creativity and new technologies, knowledge transfer, innovation, social welfare and most importantly, has helped the country create a "beautiful image of Bangladesh" Islam (2021) stated that Bangladesh is a place known for its beautiful landscapes. The country is known for its beautiful features that attract people. In addition to being the longest beach in the world, loved by tourists, it is also a Bangladeshi heritage and natural site.

Nandy et al. (2021) concluded that tourism has a significant impact on wildlife conservation, youth, women workers, rural development, heritage and the country. Therefore, accelerating revenues by increasing the confidence of international tourists and domestic tourists is the top priority of the government. Ali (2021) concluded that the Buriganga Ecological Park is not good in terms of its ecological park as well as its economic, environmental and cultural aspects. Horaira and Devi (2021) focused on cultural tourism in Bangladesh by presenting facts such as history and culture, cultural tourism, expectations, development and other things. It is loved by local and foreign tourists. Accordingly, Islam and Aktruzaman (2021), the beauty of the mountains, the unique ecosystem of the Sundarbans, the friendship of mountains and clouds, the bright shade of green trees and forests, the vastness of the sea, the world's longest beaches, archaeological sites, religious sites, rich tea plantations give Bangladesh a great potential in the tourism.

Sarker (2021) found that there are many ways to promote the concept of agriculture in Bangladesh and find new ways to contribute to its overall economy. Tourism is an important part of the service sector. It can lead to development, when the right political and economic strategies are implemented. Nobi (2021) found that the presence of information such as forest maps, wildlife conservation signs, and hazardous areas also increases the number of visitors. Therefore, the Bangladesh government should consider increasing tourism entrance fees to facilitate the development and improvement of the ecotourism industry in the Sundarban mangroves. Accordingly, Alam (2022), education among the people of the nation is vital for increasing the growth of the tourism sector in the country. Kumar et al. (2022) identified the factors that cause the growth of tourism in Bangladesh. The study aims to find the main points that attract tourists to the country.

Khan (2022) stated the socio-economic indicators since Bangladesh's independence in 1971. Bangladesh, supported by sustainable economic development, has made remarkable progress in poverty reduction. Islam and Hossain (2023) evaluated economic activities, looked for related activities, assessed the growth of the economy and determined the necessary actions. Tourism has the advantage of providing employment opportunities to the local people and helping in poverty reduction. Kamal et al. (2023) investigated the reasons behind the elite and middle class' refusal to travel domestically and preferring to travel abroad more. Bangladesh's tourism industry has expanded significantly in recent years. Currently, Bangladesh's tourism sector relies on domestic tourists because there are few foreign tourists. Islam (2023) focused on rural tourism to increase income for rural population to reduce dependency on seasonal jobs (such as agriculture, fishing, boating), create other sources of income and secure jobs, and improve problem solving through cooperation in the city's tourism industry. According to Rimón et al. (2023), tourism is one of the growing industries not only in Bangladesh but also worldwide. Meanwhile, Sundarbans is considered as one of the best tourist places in Bangladesh, but few local people are interested in this tourism industry.

Caton et al. (2023) concluded that strengths and weaknesses of tourism can be assessed at national, regional or sub-national levels. However, determining social benefits is more essential. The success of a female entrepreneur in the business sector contributes to the overall business. This study uses qualitative techniques such as surveys, interviews, and in-depth analysis of business metrics to investigate the main reasons why women choose to start a business. Tahmina and Muhsina (2024) investigated the role of tourism organizations in tourism development in Bangladesh. Tourism organizations now play an important role in developing this relationship. Bangladesh is a very successful tourist destination due to its rich and beautiful natural resources such as beaches, beautiful landscapes, culture of the indigenous people, historical events, religious traditions, heritage, wildlife, and mountain resorts. Acker et al. (2024) reported on authorizing women businesspersons in the tourism sector in Bangladesh. The study shows a good business environment is vital to welcoming women in the travel and tourism industry.

Therefore, from the above analysis we can conclude that Bangladesh is a beautiful country. It has more potential in the tourism industry. Tourism industry has many challenges. Majority of the reports discussed the current status of the tourism industry in Bangladesh. Few reports discussed the economic perspectives of the tourism industry of Bangladesh.

OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the paper are:

- (a) To study the Status and Prospects of the Tourism Industry in Bangladesh.
- (b) To examine the revenue generation from the Tourism Industry of Bangladesh.
- (c) To evaluate various challenges before the tourism industry in Bangladesh.

METHODS AND MATERIALS

Hypothesis

On the basis of the objectives of the paper, we are prepared the following hypothesis-

H₀₁: There is no impact of the corona pandemic on the arrivals of international tourists in Bangladesh.

H_{1a}: There is impact of the corona pandemic on the arrivals of international tourists in Bangladesh.

H₀₂: There is no relationship between international tourist arrivals and Gross domestic product of Bangladesh.

H_{1b}: There is relationship between international tourist arrivals and Gross domestic product of Bangladesh.

Designs and Approach

This study is descriptive in design and has utilized qualitative and quantitative approaches. Secondary data for the study has been collected from various govt. reports, website of ministry of tourism, report of international agencies, and research papers. To reveal the travel and tourism industry in general and economic perspectives in particular, descriptive analysis, content text analysis, and regression analysis have been performed.

About the Study Area

Bangladesh is a fast growing country in south Asia. Its area is 148,460 square kilometres and is the eighth-most populous country within the world. It has land border with India and Myanmar. It has lengthy coastal line in the southern area. Siliguri corridor separated Bangladesh from Bhutan. Bengali and English are the major languages in Bangladesh. Dhaka is the capital and the largest city. It is the cultural, economic, and political hub. Chittagong is the port city and the second biggest metropolis. There are eight administrative divisions. There are 64 districts. Bangladesh is the 2nd largest economic system in South Asia. Bangladesh is full of natural beauty. Rivers, coasts and beaches, archaeological websites, spiritual locations, hills, forests, waterfalls, tea gardens surround it.

Method of Analysis

The simple regression is based on two variables. They are gross domestic products and arrivals of international tourists in Bangladesh. Gross domestic product is the dependent variable and arrivals of tourists are the independent variable. Regression analysis is calculated on information of gross domestic product and arrivals of international tourists in Bangladesh during 2014-2023. Information about the arrival of tourists and GDP in Bangladesh has been collected from the report “Bangladesh Economic Review 2023” published by Ministry of Finance, Government of Bangladesh.

The table (4-a) shows that R square is found to be 0.179844861, showing that the degree of relation between the independent variable X, i.e. arrivals of tourists, and the dependent variable Y, i.e. gross domestic product is weak. Table (4-b) shows that p value (0.22) is higher than critical value at 5% level of significance ($p > 0.05$), therefore we will accept the null hypothesis-2. So, it is concluded that there is no relation between international tourist arrivals and gross domestic product in Bangladesh.

Bangladesh transport facility dominated by roadways. Dhaka, with divisional and district headquarters, are well connected by eight highways. Dhaka-Chittagong Highway is the backbone of the nation. Bangladesh's public transportation sector is facing challenges due to insufficient government investment, poor quality vehicles, and inadequate infrastructure. Water, road and air transport facilities are available. The Dhaka-Burimari route is the longest railway line in Bangladesh. Travellers can use three international airports, namely Hazrat Shahjalal International Airport, Dhaka. Shah Amanat International Airport, Chattogram, and Osmani International Airport, Sylhet. There are nearly 32 foreign carriers operating to and from Hazrat Shahjalal International Airport. There are many riverine ports. Ashuganj ghat and Pangaon are vital hubs for moving goods and people. Padma Bridge, Bangabandhu Bridge, Meghna Bridge, Rupsha Bridge, Keane Bridge, Shah Amanat Bridge, and Taltoli Bridge are the prominent bridges.

(b) The Economic Perspectives, Challenges and Government Initiatives

Tourism is a growing industry in Bangladesh. There are many factors responsible behind its growth, but the prominent factors are policies of the government, and rising appeal from traveller to travel. Revenue from the tourism industry was $357 million, $391 million, and $218 million respectively in 2018, 2019, and 2020. Tourism contributed nearly $1,157 million between 2009 and 2018. Contribution of the tourism industry in GDP was 2.4% (USD 8.1 billion), 2.3% (USD 9.5 billion), and 2.3% (USD 10.2 billion) respectively in 2019, 2023 and

2024. The World Travel and Tourism Council (WTTC's) predicted that the contribution of the tourism industry will be USD 16.7 billion in 2034. According to WTTC's report, the tourism industry contributed 2.6% (1.74 million) of overall jobs in 2019, 3% (2.14 million) in 2023, and 3% (2.18 million) in 2024. WTTC's report states that domestic visitor spending was respectively USD 6.98 billion, USD 8.6 billion, and USD 8.6 billion in 2019, 2023, and 2024. WTTC's report states that domestic visitor spending was respectively USD 326.8 million, USD 401.5 million, and USD 414.0 million in 2019, 2023, and 2024.

Table 6: Contribution of Tourism in South Asian Countries

Country	% GDP	Country	% GDP
Bhutan	5.0	Pakistan	5.9
Bangladesh	2.3	Sri Lanka	6.1
India	5.8	Maldives	30
Nepal	6.7	Afghanistan	-

Table 6 describes the contribution of tourism in South Asian countries. It has found that the economy of the island country Maldives is dependent on the tourism sector. Contribution of the tourism sector in the economy of Maldives is 30%. Contribution of the tourism sector in GDP of Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Sri Lanka, and India varies between 5-6%. Contribution of the tourism sector in GDP of Bangladesh is lower than the other south Asian countries.

Tourism industry in Bangladesh has challenges. Some of them are inadequate infrastructure facilities, shortage of accommodation and recreation facilities, lack of safety and security, political instability, lack of professionalism, backward communication, terrorist attacks, natural disasters, inadequate allocation in the national budget, high prices of tourist products, cross border regulations, and weak promotion. Managing tourism is the biggest challenge, due to impacts on environment, local culture and the overall tourism experience. Travellers need to beware of pickpockets.

The Government of Bangladesh implemented multiple policies for sustainable development of the tourism industry. It will contribute to the country's social and economic development. The National Tourism Policy was established in 1992. The major aims of the policy are attracting foreign exchange, open opportunities for investment, increase opportunities for budget tourism for Bangladeshis, create a more favourable image of the country, alleviate poverty, and maintain the country's tourism resources. Government declared tourism as a thrust sector in Industrial Policy of Bangladesh, 1999. For increasing the legislative and institutional capacities of the tourism sector, the government has passed two bills, (a) Bangladeshi Protected Tourism Area and Special Tourism Zone Bill 2010; and (b) Bangladesh Tourism Board Bill 2010.

CONCLUSION

Bangladesh's tourism industry is developing, with the potential to grow. Be that as it may, the industry faces challenges such as a need for foundation, security concerns, and constrained advancement. Tourism in Bangladesh incorporates tourism to World Legacy

Destinations, authentic landmarks, resorts, shorelines, outing spots, timberlands, tribal individuals, and natural life of different species. Bangladesh offers numerous visitor attractions, counting archaeological destinations, verifiable mosques and landmarks, longest normal shoreline within the world, pleasant scenery, slope woodlands and natural life, rolling tea gardens and tribes. Cox's Bazar is the longest unbroken sea beach in the world and the tourist capital of Bangladesh. Dhaka the capital and largest city of Bangladesh is known the world over as the 'City of Mosques'.

Tourism impacts visitor goals in both positive and negative ways, enveloping financial, political, socio-cultural, natural, and mental measurements. Tourism too has positive and negative wellbeing results for nearby individuals. There are a number of benefits for the community as a result of tourism. This incorporates financial benefits such as openings for nearby businesses which permits for expanded exchange among the expanded number of guests and after that creates an assortment of nearby businesses. Tourism can be beneficial for the community because it gives the budgetary implications and the motivating force to protect social histories, nearby legacy destinations, and traditions. It fortifies intrigue in neighbourhood creates, conventional exercises, tunes, move, and verbal histories. Over a long time, Bangladesh has created an interesting and alluring tourism advertisement that has extended its industry due to its characteristic magnificence. The climate in Bangladesh is exceptionally pleasant and makes it an ideal goal for visitors from around the world.

Tourism is one of the profitable sectors in Bangladesh. Tourism sector of Bangladesh is facing many obstacles. This study found that good communication services, recreation opportunities, tourist spot cleanliness, shopping facilities, tourist spot attractions, washroom and toilet facilities, availability of emergency services, good residential facilities, excellent attitudes of local people, and security and safety are the vital components for viable advancement of Bangladesh's tourism industry. Sustainability of tourism attraction, waste management system implementation, superstructure development, and appropriate infrastructure construction and sustainability for future generations are all critical. Bangladesh Parjatan Corporation (BPC) looks after the tourism sector in Bangladesh under the ministry of Civil Aviation and Tourism.
